

IP, Data and Technology Masterclass

Tuesday, 24 September
9:00am to 12:30pm

The Law Society of Western Australia,
Level 5, 160 St Georges Terrace, Perth

Intellectual Property Basics

This useful introductory session will focus on trade marks and copyright, including:

- the requirements that need to be satisfied to establish entitlement to the grant of intellectual property rights;
- the procedures by which grant of intellectual property rights are obtained; and
- enforcement and commercialisation of these intellectual property rights.
- what copyright is and how it is different to other intellectual property rights (patents, trade marks and designs)
- what types of things copyright does and doesn't protect
- the common issues arising from copyright protection and enforcement

Data and Privacy

Blockchain and lawyers

Blockchain, and its related Distributed Ledger Technology is the centre of attention not only for tech-savvy enthusiasts, but also the legal profession. Blockchain and related digital systems challenge the legal profession on a variety of legal issues, including:

- privacy breaches
- use of smart contracts,
- intellectual property infringements
- consumer protection contraventions

This session introduces the concept of Blockchain and explores specific legal issues relating to its use and the use of related digital systems.
